Reasons for Allowance

The independent claims recite preventing message delivery service by called parties and a limitation for the following:

"preventing a message from being delivered to a called party if the called party is included in a list that identifies called parties who do not want a message to be delivered to them, wherein the message comprises a voice message recorded during a call from a caller to the called party after a no-answer condition"

The prior art of record teaches the limitation except for a no-answer condition. Some prior art of record teaches recording messages after no-answer conditions but not in the context of the limitation. New search updates revealed no other prior art which teaches the limitation in the context of the claims. Therefore, Claims 1-22 are indicated allowable.
